Munsan, (AP)—Allied and Red truce teams resumed their off-the-record negotiations for a Korean armistice today after a four-day recess, called by the Communists.

They returned to the conference tent at Panmunjom amid expectations that the Communists might make a new move to break the deadlock of exchanging prisoners of war.

Judge Rhodes Denounces PUC Action

Philadelphia, (AP)—President Judge Chester H. Rhodes of the State Superior Court yesterday called "inexcusable" the action of the Public Utility Commission in allowing Pittsburgh Railways Co. to boost fares from 17 to 20 cents.

Judge Chester H. Rhodes

Judge Rhodes added that at the moment "my sentiment is that there is no basis of appeal in the Superior Court—but I may change my mind."

The court took no formal action following the hearing in which the City of Pittsburgh attacked the new rates, scheduled to go into effect July 27, and pleaded with the court to step in and stop the fare boost.

The hearing, which lasted for nearly two hours, was called yesterday after a hurried telephone call from Anne X. Alpern, Pittsburgh City Solicitor, to the court.

Miss Alpern accused the PUC of putting its authorization of the new 20-cent fare in the form of a public release which she said was handed out in Harrisburg to the press.

"I read about it for the first time in the newspaper," she said. "And I say the commission slipped this time in their eagerness to get these higher rates into effect before anyone knew about it."

She then pointed out that the "release" issued by the public relations department of the PUC directed the company to make monthly progress reports on the effect of the new rates on its economic status.

"Doesn't that make this so called 'release' an order?" she demanded.

At the same time, she told the court, the PUC ordered the Pittsburgh Railways Co. to file briefs July 29 and the city of Pittsburgh on Aug. 10 on the present 17 cent rates.

"In other words the PUC is allowing new rates to go into effect before the 17 cent increase or any of the other pending rate cases are concluded," Miss Alpern said.

Judge Rhodes commented at this juncture: "It doesn't look right to me to have rates go into effect before the pending case is settled."

Another Judge, W. Heber Dithrich commented: "I've been sitting in this court seven years and this is the first time we've been asked to permit a new rate schedule to go into effect before the pending rate case was disposed of."

The clue resulted in the arrest and sentencing of 33-year-old James Sherman of Peru, Ind., on a grand larceny charge. Sherman was accused of burglaries in three different counties. Police said he was sizing up the store for the burglary when David got the license number.

For his efforts officials gave him the badge and a five-dollar reward.

Grand Jury To Probe Oil Cartel

Washington, (AP)—Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery announced last night a federal grand jury will investigate a reputed international oil cartel involving seven of the world's largest oil companies.

McGranery told a news conference he proposes to seek criminal indictments and at the same time will file a civil anti-trust action designed to end alleged monopolistic practices and restraints of trade.

McGranery named the companies whose activities will be investigated by a grand jury sitting here as:

Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, the Texas Co., Socony-Vacuum, and Gulf Oil, all U. S. concerns, and two foreign groups—Royal Dutch Shell and Anglo-Iranian Oil Co.

News Stand Monopoly Is Charged

Washington (AP)—The government yesterday brought anti-trust action against the American News Co. and its subsidiary, the United News Co., charging them with conspiring to monopolize the national news stand distribution of magazines.

Atty. Gen. McGranery said the suit was filed in U. S. District Court in New York City, where both companies have their headquarters.

An investigation indicated that American handles more than half of all the magazines sold by the news stand distribution method, the Justice Department complaint avowed.

United News was described as the world's largest operator of news stands with exclusive concessions at important railroad, bus and airline terminals, leading hotels and office buildings and other desirable locations.

Strike Hurts Plane Output

Washington (AP)—Adm. DeWitt C. Ramsey, president of Aircraft Industries Association, said yesterday that the steel strike is steering the airplane manufacturing industry toward "a grave and perhaps desperate crisis."

Ramsey said in a statement that by Aug. 1 a "significant number" of manufacturers of aircraft parts will be seriously affected by a lack of steel.

"From that date on, this trend is likely to snowball until Sept. 15, when it is believed there will be a complete stoppage of jet engine production and deliveries," the former vice chief of naval operations declared.

Ramsey said that aircraft production is so regulated that the shutdown of one important item could stop an entire assembly line.

Ramsey added that even if the steel strike is settled soon, the shutdown of iron ore mines will mean reduced steel production during the late winter months.

Washington (AP)—Price Chief Ellis Arnall is urging issuance of an official statement withdrawing the government offer of a $5.65 per ton price boost for steel if the strike is settled. So far, he has had no success.

Russell's Flip-Flop On T-H In Bid For Labor Vote Begins To Backfire Among Dixiecrats

Registration Deadline Set For Voters

By Peter Olwyler

It takes eating and voting to keep America alive.

But you can't eat without teeth and you can't vote without registering.

Your stomach will see to it that you eat. Your common sense and innate citizenship will see to it that you register.

The groceries you can get at the corner store.

The registration you can get daily at the courthouse—and what's more, it doesn't cost anything.

But there's a time limit. The final day for registering—so that you can speak your piece on Nov. 4 in the way that really counts—is Sept. 13.

The women in the commissioners' office at the courthouse will register you from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays, and on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon.

The process takes about three minutes.

For voter's convenience, you can also register at the following places on these days:

Kunkletown and Middle Stroud election houses, Aug. 19, from 6 to 9 p.m.

Delaware Water Gap fire house and Kresgeville election house, Aug. 20 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Saylorsburg Lake House and Broadheads election house, Aug. 21 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Mount Pocono and Tannersville school houses, Aug. 26 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Tobyhanna and Middle Smithfield election houses, Aug. 27 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Pocono Lake fire house and Pocono Summit election house, Aug. 28 from 6 to 9 p.m.

Mountainhome election house, Sept. 3 from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m.

Snydersville election house, Sept. 3 from 6 to 9 p.m.

East Stroudsburg Third Ward election house, Sept. 4 from 6 to 9 p.m.

At the courthouse in Stroudsburg, Sept. 11 (just a few days before the deadline) from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

And again at the courthouse, Sept. 13—the last day—from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Chief Clerk Harry Taylor also issued a reminder yesterday: It's too late to change your party. You can't switch from Democrat to Republican or vice versa until after the November election.

Senator Martin Addresses VFW

Pittsburgh (AP)—Sen. Edward Martin told delegates at the opening of the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars 33rd annual convention yesterday veterans must be in the thick of the fight to keep America strong against Communism.

"Moral and spiritual strength will be a supreme weapon of victory in our fight against the poisonous philosophy of Communism. Communist Russia and its satellites are tragic example of people held captive under terror and tyranny by rulers who deny God and have destroyed all human rights."

Delegates will nominate officers for the coming year today after the annual encampment parade. The convention ends Saturday with election of officers.

History Of Dark Horse Candidates Dates Back To Selection Of James Polk In 1844

By Leonard Randolph

Whatever else may be said for the "dark horse" one thing is evident: he is quite often the only man who can pull his party's chestnuts out of the fire and not get burned.

This nation's first "dark horse" candidate was nominated in 1844 by the Democrats.

The recipient of this dubious honor was James K. Polk—a little-known Tennesseean who had received only a smattering of national publicity prior to his nomination.

In 1844 there were only two central political parties—a condition which was to become increasingly rare in subsequent election years—the "Democrats" and the "Whigs."

Whig powers, playing it close to the popular line in that election year, nominated well-known, widely-publicized Henry Clay.

Issues in the campaign were "re-annexation of Texas and the re-occupation of Oregon" and tariff reform. The Democrats were for all three; the Whigs skirted the annexation issue and favored a "national tariff."

When the counting was all over—Polk, a political "novice," had carried New York by a small majority and had won the election with 170 electoral votes as opposed to Clay's 105.

Eight years later a second dark horse—Franklin Pierce—was nominated by the same party. Pierce also won—but partly because the Whigs were falling apart at the seams and were victims of internal strife.

Twentieth century history, of course, seems to have run counter to the potentials the dark horse displayed in the mid-1800's. Republicans nominated one—Wendell L. Willkie—in 1940. Willkie, who campaigned principally on the basis of his own "One World" concepts and ig-

Might React In Favor Of Sen. Kefauver

Chicago, (AP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell's bid for union labor support with his promise to overhaul the Taft-Hartley Law began to backfire yesterday among Dixie delegates to next week's Democratic National Convention.

Signs appeared that Russell's strategic flip-flop—he voted originally for Taft-Hartley and against a presidential veto—might react in favor of a major rival, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

But Russell was sticking to predictions that he will capture the Democratic nomination with the help of hard core Southern support. Kefauver wasn't budging from his stand that the party will tap him.

And a third entrant in the race, Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman, hopped into town with his own victory prediction. More are on the way. Vice President Alben W. Barkley and Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma are due today.

Everybody was being nice and polite—no name calling or harsh words for opposition camps. Kefauver paid an informal call at Russell headquarters, for a look around and a friendly chat.

Yet bitterness over labor questions, civil rights and delegate contests bubbled just beneath the surface display of calm and harmony in Chicago and as far away as Roanoke, Va.

In this convention city, various organized labor leaders were passing word to reporters that they still are afraid of Russell, despite his announcement Wednesday night that he favors supplanting the Taft-Hartley Law with new legislation on which labor and management might agree. Union spokesmen let it be known that they would be inclined to accept Kefauver in preference to Russell—if "Fair Dealer" Harriman can't make the grade.

In Roanoke, 2,000 Virginia Democrats met to pick delegates to the party's national convention and hesitated at going through with plans to endorse Russell. Former Gov. William M. Tucker cut a friendly reference to the Georgia senator from his keynote address to the state convention.

After that, the Virginians voted to send to Chicago an uncommitted 28-vote delegation that will be free to bolt if platform and nominee are not to its liking.

Russell had no comment on the action of Tucker or the Virginia convention, nor is he prepared, he told a reporter, to specify at this time just what changes he would make in the Taft-Hartley law.

Southerners, too, were showing some concern over the idea that Harriman might get a tap on the shoulder from President Truman. Some were suggesting that in that event Kefauver might be a better bet than Russell to head off Harriman.

Harriman is reaching for the nomination as an all-out supporter of the "New Deal" and "Fair Deal." Kefauver leans more toward administration views than does Russell on such items as civil rights. And he voted against the Taft-Hartley Law in the first place.

But the South probably would take Kefauver in preference to Harriman.

Union labor's stand may crystallize today with the arrival of CIO President Philip Murray, a delegate-at-large from Pennsylvania. Murray is planning to huddle with CIO vice presidents and members of the Political Action Committee—the CIO's political arm.

The civil rights fight got under way yesterday, with Southerners hitting their tongues at first, then pitching in on arguments before the committee that will put together the Democratic platform.

Mrs. J. V. Alderman, a delegate from Jacksonville, Fla., flared up when Aubrey Williams said the way the South treats Negroes is "a disgrace." Racial discrimination in the South, Mrs. Alderman declared, can be laid to "carpet baggers from the North."

Williams is publisher of the Southern Farmer at Montgomery, Ala.

Qavam Named Iran Premier

Tehran, Iran, (AP)—Ex-Premier Ahmad Qavam, a rightist who led Iran's fight through perilous disputes with Soviet Russia in the wake of World War Two, succeeded Mohammed Mossadegh as Premier yesterday.

The change in leadership possibly may bring a settlement of the long quarrel between Iran and Britain over Mossadegh's nationalization last year of the billion-dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's Aranian properties.

Mossadegh resigned to premier-ship after the Shah, Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, rejected a bid of the frail but iron-willed Nationalist leader to become his own war minister in a new cabinet.

The lower house of Parliament, the Majlis, nominated Qavam in a secret meeting boycotted by 25 or more pro-Mossadegh deputies. With 43 deputies present and only a plurality needed for the nomination, Qavam received 40 votes. There were three abstentions.

The Shah promptly issued a royal decree approving the nomination and ordering Qavam to form a new government. The major problem Qavam inherits is Iran's near-bankruptcy, brought about by the oil nationalization policies that Mossadegh once forecast would lead to general prosperity.

Qavam, 77, was Premier in 1946 and 1947.

Eisenhower's Bid Farewell To Son

Denver, (AP)—Gen. and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower bade a restrained farewell to their soldier son, John, yesterday, as he left to fight in Korea.

Mrs. Eisenhower choked back a tear as she embraced her 29-year-old son and sent him off to war. The general, Republican presidential nominee, also controlled his emotions as he paced back and forth before going up the stairs to the plane with his son for their final word together.

Mrs. Truman Returns, Thought 'Harry Might Be Lonesome'

Washington, (AP)—Mrs. Bess Truman hurried back to Washington to the hospital bedside of her mildly ailing husband yesterday because she thought "Harry might be lonesome."

Arriving by train from Independence, Mo., Mrs. Truman was driven directly to the Army's Walter Reed Hospital. There, in the plush Presidential Suite, her husband was patiently undergoing a series of tests that might show, among other things, whether his strength has been sapped by seven gruelling years in the White House.

Aides said Truman, recovering from a mild virus infection, spent a "very good night," and Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told newsmen: "The President expects to be back in the White House by Saturday."

The 68-year-old Chief Executive entered the hospital Wednesday. It was the first time he has been hospitalized since he took office on the death of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt in April, 1945.

White House officials emphasized that the President was suffering little or no discomfort and appeared to be enjoying himself.

Aides said Truman only consented to enter the hospital at the request of his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, to facilitate the medical tests Graham wanted to make with hospital equipment.

Although Mrs. Truman wasn't sent for, she decided to return to Washington to have a look for herself and to keep the President company.

Five Freight Cars Delayed

Easton, (AP)—About 300 yards of track were torn up yesterday when five cars of a Lehigh Valley Railroad freight train jumped the tracks north of Easton.

The derailed cars, four loaded with cement, the fifth empty, were in the center of a 34-car train.

Traffic was suspended for the day over the section as railroad crews worked at clearing the track.

Frustrated Student Of Eternal Life Admits Killing Blonde Secretary To Gain Publicity

New York, (AP)—A frustrated electronics student, claiming the key to eternal life, said yesterday he killed a blonde stenographer at Columbia University just because his weird theories were ignored.

The man, 29-year-old Bayard P. Peakes, was gunning for the physicists who had scorned his book "How To Live Forever." When he didn't find them he settled for Eileen Fahey, whom fate placed in his path.

"I just wanted to kill somebody," police quoted Peakes after his arrest early yesterday at his Boston rooming house, where he was trapped by the slimmest of clues. He was brought back to New York in manacles.

He didn't even know Miss Fahey, pretty 18-year-old employee of the American Physical Society, to which Peakes once belonged. It sponsors research and papers on physics and electronics.

The society has offices on Columbia's campus although it is not a part of the university.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Carl Grebow claimed a complete confession from Peakes and added: "He felt if he killed a few physicists in New York, he would get publicity and an opportunity to develop his theories."

first person I met in the office," police said Peakes told them. He is a tall man, with short, bushy black hair.

Afterwards, Peakes took a train back to Boston and Grebow said: "On the train, he thought he might stop over to some newspaper office and kill some newspaper editor and newspaper officials."

Peakes claimed the society had shrugged off his treatises on electronic means of prolonging human life forever.

Thirsting for revenge, he was quoted by Boston police as saying he planned to make an electronic bomb to blow up the Columbia building which houses the society.

Boy, 5, Helps Solve Series Of Burglaries

Logansport, Ind. (AP)—A 5-year-old boy who supplied the clue that solved a three-county series of burglaries and sent a man to prison sported a shiny deputy sheriff's badge yesterday.

Little David Bashore's developing interest in numbers caused him to memorize the license number of a parked car near a Waverly, Ind., store on the day before a burglary.

The clue resulted in the arrest and sentencing of 33-year-old James Sherman of Peru, Ind., on a grand larceny charge. Sherman was accused of burglaries in three different counties. Police said he was sizing up the store for the burglary when David got the license number.

For his efforts officials gave him the badge and a five-dollar reward.

Mr. Truman Not Sure Of Having Say

By John F. Sembover
Central Press Correspondent
Chicago — The huge question mark presented by the Democratic national convention is whether the Truman administration really can tap the man who is to be nominee and its would-be successor.

There is a widespread assumption that it can, and that the administration's only embarrassment is deciding who it is to be—Illinois' Gov. Adlai Stevenson? W. Averell Harriman? One of a dozen others whose names may be before the convention, including a Truman draft? A complete outsider?

However, that may be too specious as assumption in connection with a President who has had the trouble President Harry Truman has encountered with, for example, an 82nd Congress with majorities of its own party in both houses.

That is where Governor Stevenson enters the picture. Truman and his aides may be exasperated at the Illinois governor's apparent indecisiveness—interpreted in some quarters as coyness—but the fact remains that they may need him desperately. A last-minute analysis of the pre-convention delegate setup indicates it.

Just what can Harry Truman count on as the hard core of administration support when he passes along the word to one Thomas J. Gavin, the 54-year-old Kansas City councilman who is the President's alternate for his one-half vote official participation in the convention?

Putting the acid test to what the administration can deliver in delegates, suppose that alternate Gavin pipes up for Harriman? There is a hard core of 101½ votes held by the man who generally has been viewed as the "trustee" of administration-pledged delegates.

Add the 46½ votes pledged to undoubted Truman adherents, including the 14 Truman himself holds—the delegates of Speaker Sam Rayburn, ex-Senator Scott Lucas, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, Security Administrator Ewing, and Justice Fred Vinson—and the sum is the irreducible 148.

Throw in the 56 votes pledged to Stevenson, who shifts the center of gravity, just slightly away from the administration, and this bloc swells to 204—hardly enough to swing a nomination.

Look then at the opposite pole—the citadel of anti-Truman forces. Hardest core there is Senator Richard B. Russell's 167, including bitter-end Dixiecrats.

Almost at hand a core are the 26 votes held by Senators William Fulbright, Paul H. Douglas and Justice William O. Douglas. Add the only slightly less hard core of Kefauver's 246, and the total of anti-Truman forces rise to 439.

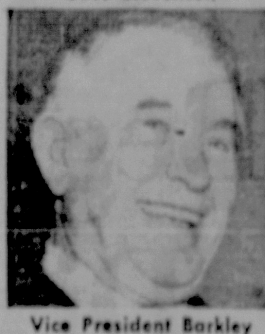

The balance can be restored somewhat by tossing into the Truman scales all the delegates of "independent but friendly contenders"—Governors, Mennen Williams and Paul A. Dever, Vice President Alben Barkley, Senators Robert Kerr, Brien McMahon and Guy M. Gillette, and Ohio's favorite, ex-Senator Robert Bulkley—a total of 187, arraying the pro-Truman.

History Of Dark Horses

the nomination, the geographical location of the dark horse may be reversed but the outcome may very likely be the same.

In 1848 the "dark horse" was a native Tennesseean. In 1952 a Tennesseean—crime crusader Estes Kefauver—leads the pack.

Tailing Kefauver are Averell Harriman (long-time diplomat and financier who embraces the current party doctrines as espoused by Harry Truman); Richard Russell of Georgia, a Southerner who is "almost but not quite a States-righter" and who has often opposed Truman in Congress; Robert Kerr, Oklahoma man whose policies are not completely consistent with the Fair Deal, and present Vice-President Alben Barkley who, of course, upholds the Truman doctrines and is popular with both party heads and the voters and—unfortunately for the party—is getting up in years.

There is one other candidate who is not really a candidate at all.

He is Adlai Stevenson, governor of the State of Illinois and—in terms of experience—one of the most widely-respected men in the party.

Since Stevenson's name has been before the public since it was first announced Harry Truman would not run again, it is impossible to call him a genuine "dark horse".

But in one other important respect Stevenson is definitely qualified for the term—he has consistently refused to "run" for the nomination and has stated unequivocally that he believes he owes the State of Illinois another term as governor.

As usual, of course, there's a joker in the deck. That joker is

Lodge Bought For Use As Health Resort

A ten-room mountain lodge and guest house at Swiftwater, the summer home of Mrs. Eli Long of Cresco and the late Dr. Long, has been sold, according to Previews Inc., national real estate clearing house, marketing agents. Paul Brenn of Buffalo, N. Y., has purchased the property and plans to use it for a vegetarian health resort. Francis M. Marvin, Bartonsville broker, negotiated the sale of the property.

The exterior of the two-story lodge is of cedar shingles; the interior is pine-paneled. There are a fireplace terrace and a porch, and on the first floor are a large living room and dining room with beamed ceilings and fireplaces. There is a sitting room on the second floor, as well as four bedrooms and two baths. The guest house, of the same construction as the house, has an apartment of three rooms, two additional rooms and bath, and garage space.

The grounds around the house are planted with lawns and a rock garden, and the remainder of the acreage is woodland.

discarded all equipment after he took over the plant on June 10, 1946, and has an ample supply of machines in reserve which he relies on in the event of a breakdown.

Working as an apparel contractor, Trigiani turns out about 100 dozen blouses each day. The material is shipped to Kunkletown from the New York jobbers and when the operation is completed, finished blouses go back to New York for distribution across the country.

Armen Malpiedo is plant manager and practically all of the 37 employees come from either Kunkletown or the immediate area.

About 50 machines comprise the overhead outlay for Trigiani. Employment, always a problem for blouse mills, also confronts Kunkletown Sportswear. "We can always use help," Trigiani said, but indicted the numbers necessary are not great enough to warrant widespread advertising.

Kunkletown Sportswear makes a variety of blouses, in all sizes, shades and styles. Cotton, nylon and crepe are the materials used exclusively but the scope of style ranges from plain to fancy.

"We make a medium-price blouse," Trigiani said. He indicated he produces good quality and noted his merchandise is superior to the inexpensive blouses being made in some mills.

Annual payroll runs about $70,000, Trigiani said, an indication of the strong part Kunkletown Sportswear is playing in the small community.

After the cut material reaches the mill it is stitched, sewed, the button holes made and buttons sewed on, trimmed, examined and after pressing, is finally packaged.

Two presses are kept busy constantly hastening the flow of work that leaves the machines of sewers. Steam-electric irons are used in the pressing and are attached to the ceiling by a metal frame which hinges to allow the operator to handle the iron easily and then withdraws the hot iron after a blouse is pressed.

Buttons by the hundreds of thousands must be kept in stock at all times, Trigiani said, for the manifold styles each require a different type button and the production must not be hampered.

Located at the eastern end of Kunkletown, the cement block building is one of the few industries in the small town but its steady operation is a contributing factor to stability there.

Tobyhanna's Heritage

Coolbaugh Township, and more specifically the village of Tobyhanna, were scheduled to become "The Town of Tobyhanna" which someday will send a football team to Stroudsburg and win."

That prophetic remark was made by Rep. Francis E. Walter on a very cold winter day during an inspection of the site of a $33,000,000 Signal Depot at Tobyhanna. The inspecting group looked over the community, and the Congressman made his remark as they passed the Coolbaugh township high school.

Walter said it, we recall, with quiet confidence. That day represented the culmination of many painstaking efforts over many years—some of them very disappointing—by Rep. Walter to bring a worthwhile installation to the northern segment of his Congressional district which would transform the region into a thriving community.

Coolbaugh Township, he knew, had little taxing equity because better than half of its area was tax free. It was tax free because of state and federal ownership of over half the land. It was perhaps the poorest section tax-wise and in other categories in his entire district.

His prophetic statement that day spread throughout this region. Some forgot it almost immediately. Others took it seriously and began to do something about it.

These people who adopted a serious attitude about Mr. Walter's statement . . . among them the supervisors and other responsible citizens . . . moved out to meet the impact of a $33,000,000 installation with a peacetime employment factor of 3,500 persons.

They, too, had a vision of a modern, thriving community filled with homes for Americans working in a major defense installation.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Chicago, July 17—Negro leaders have informed Democrats gathering in Chicago that colored people hold the balance of political power in Ohio, Illinois, and California. They assert also that along with other so-called independent voters, Negroes are potentially the balance of power in 14 other northern states with almost 300 out of the 531 electoral college votes.

The reminder, issued by Walter White, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is expected to encourage Northern Democrats, such as Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, in the fight for a strong party Civil Rights plank in the Democratic platform.

Humphrey needs all the encouragement he can get. The same ferocious battle over Civil Rights that rocked the 1948 Democratic convention will be re-fought here next week. In 1948, Humphrey stamped the convention into voting an anti-South Civil Rights plank. He was successful because of his oratorical skill and aggressive tactics. Both are likely to prove less charming to delegates this time, but a strong Civil Rights plank is in the offing nevertheless.

Most of the Negro leaders now in Chicago taking to Democratic politicians do so with tongue in cheek when speaking of the Negro vote as a bloc. They know, as do the Democratic leaders, that the Negro vote is not cast as a unit any more than is the Labor vote. Senator Robert A. Taft proved this conclusively in Ohio in 1950.

The Negro, however, has a serious stake in both political conventions. His reaction to party platforms is the concern—and rightfully—of spokesmen for the colored people. No less important to his political welfare is the selection of a candidate.

The political situation in Chicago this year is not comforting to Negro leaders. They know that the South will not accept a candidate with the views of a Humphrey or a Senator Herbert Lehman. They know also that Northern machine bosses secretly refuse to go that far on the race issue—as they proved in 1944 by rejecting Henry Wallace for another term as vice president.

At the same time the Negro Democrat, like his Republican counterpart, is interested in the welfare of his party. He knows that a strong Civil Rights plank will not be repudiated. But he also knows that the Democrats may well compromise on the issue in the selection of the two top candidates.

The NAACP has already criticized Senators Russell of Georgia and Kerr of Oklahoma. On the Republican side, it has rejected the Civil Rights views of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, but has remained silent regarding the views of Sen. Richard Nixon. Nixon is popular in California among Negro voters.

W. Averett Harrison and Senator Estes Kefauver are the two candidates for the Democratic nomination who have been handled gently by Negro Democratic leaders. Both have associated themselves with President Truman's views on Negro problems. Kefauver, however, being from Tennessee, has to overcome the natural antipathy of Southern Negroes for a Southern politician, despite the views of Negro leaders on the subject.

The Negro vote in the South is near the 2,000,000 mark. This fact is of less importance to the Democrats, who traditionally win, than to Republicans. The GOP is hopeful that Eisenhower and Nixon will carry a number of Southern States. The Negro vote will have a lot to do with fulfilling this hope.

Where the Negro voter goes this November depends on what the Democrats do next week in Chicago. A strong Civil Rights plank in either party platform will not convince the Negro voter that he is headed for the equality he wants. His concern is the man who is named to carry out the pledges made for his welfare. In this respect the burden of proof is on the Democrats next week in Chicago.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The Two-Party System

During the era of kingship by divine right, the political party did not exist. The king employed the men he liked and exiled or beheaded them when they no longer served his pleasure.

Henry VIII, Mary Elizabeth, the Stuarts and Cromwell pursued the gentle art of official murder to accomplish their political ends.

The essence of a two-party system is that men may differ without fear. Loyalty must be as unquestioned in the opposition as in the government. The importation into England of the German House of Hanover facilitated the development of political parties in England, not only the party of the king's men, but of the opposition, because the early Hanoverians knew no English and disliked the country. In this, Walpole, the two Pitts, Peel and subsequently Disraeli and Gladstone played crucial roles.

Because of this political development, the opposition could scrutinize and criticize government without physical danger. And as this system grew, the king lost much of his power, the parties exchanging power without regard for royal preference.

Even before the United States was formed, two parties came into existence, the Federalists and the Democratic-Republicans, led respectively by Alexander Hamilton and Thomas Jefferson. Hamilton believed in a strong, central government with vast powers over the people; Jefferson believed that government governs best which governs least.

Both parties united on George Washington as our first President, but they split sharply during his Administration and broke into violent antagonism during the Administration of his successor, John Adams. From then on, the two-party-system has become structurally a part of the American political system and all attempts at deviation from it have failed.

The real difficulty, however, has been to keep the parties distinct and different. In Great Britain, a political party is a national institution, organized on a membership basis, with responsible officials who sit in Parliament. In the United States, the political is a state institution, organized under the state electoral laws, which vary widely.

The state characteristic of the political party was increased by the sectionalism during the approach to the Civil War. The Democratic Party on the Eastern seaboard in the North could not agree with the Southern Democrats; the Whig Party was divided between the "Conscience Whigs" under Daniel Webster and the "Cotton Whigs" under Henry Clay.

The aftermath of the Civil War stimulated sectionalism, within the parties. The Republicans had been organized at Ripon, Wisconsin, in 1854 and elected Abraham Lincoln in 1860. The Whigs had disappeared in the Northern States, a Democrat was not favorably regarded. The Republican Party might have had followers in both North and South, were it not for the shame of Reconstruction, with its carpet-baggers and disgusting profiteers. The result of Republican misconduct during the Reconstruction Period is the solid South, a group of States south of the Mason and Dixon Line where, for practical purposes, only one party exists, the Democratic Party.

In the North and the growing West, the Republican Party prevailed from Abraham Lincoln to Woodrow Wilson (1861-1913), with the two interludes of Grover Cleveland. This party was conservative and constructive and during its administration, the country grew and prospered. However, several forces developed in American life which weakened the Republican Party:

1. The shift from rural to urban population, the tendency in the big cities being for the new immigrants, from the Irish and Germans to the Italians and Greeks to favor the Democrats;

2. The shift ideologically in the United States from the British type of government by chosen representatives in a two-party system, the representatives voting their consciences rather than public opinion, to a continental European concept of democracy, in which the voice of the people is the voice of God, the deity being symbolized by a loudspeaker;

3. The increased desire of our people for a government guaranteed security even to the extent of sacrificing liberty for security;

4. The fragmentation of our population along racial, religious and cultural lines with a tendency to lessen the processes of Americanization for several generations.

These trends crossed party lines, so that the two parties in the Roosevelt and Truman regimes became catch-alls, vehicles for elections, platforms for self-promotion rather than ideological bases for diverse political concepts. And this brings us to the July conventions in which the split is within each party as much as between the parties.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

The town tightwad amazed his neighbors by suddenly taking unto himself a wife. When the minister conducted the ceremony, the groom said, "I suppose there's a charge for this. What'll it be?" "Let your conscience be your guide," said the minister gallantly. "I'm usually paid in accordance with the beauty of the bride." The tightwad handed the minister a dollar. The minister gave him seventy-five cents change.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Operation "What To Do"

The Democrats have their work cut out in plans for the convention. In fact, it's a "project." They have got to find a candidate who can make a loser out of one of the most famous winners in history. The task is to prevent like Eisenhower from making a victorious landing via the Potomac. What a spot they're in! Their former top fighting general is the guy they have got to lick. The Democrats may need NATO more than Europe does.

This column is still betting that Harry Truman has to defend the beachheads. Who else among the Democratic candidates looks like a road block against Eisenhower? Ike has fame as a successful fighter, he is a two-fisted scrapper, he survived that first Abilene speech in the rain with his hair on end. Where do Harriman, Kefauver, Kerr, Russell, Stevenson, Barkley or MacMahon fit in to a setup like that? Averell has plenty on the ball, but can you picture him in the ring against Ike, even with his own artillery support? Kefauver? It could be "The Tennessee Waltz" versus "Over There." "Pistol Packin' Mommer," "Throw 'Em Down, McCluskey," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Estes leaped into fame through video, but against Ike he would be up against a man who would never refuse to answer a question on the advice of counsel, or insist that only his fingers be telecast. Stevenson? If he gives up that secure spot out of the war zone in Chicago to prove he they think they are losing the camera angle.

"Then," Dick went on, "there is the type of leading lady who is polite but cool. Two days after we met, the one I'm thinking of sent her agent to the studio to ask that some of my lines be given to her leading man."

"A woman who doesn't know her lines will say her hair is out of place or the lights bother her. Then she'll cry. 'Women also start difficulties among the men on a picture. The men start vying for favors, praise, and sometimes dates.'"

Erdman said there are a "few" actresses he likes to work with. Among them are Bette Davis, Theresa Wright, and Jane Greer.

Erdman is ag'in women as movie players.

"Women," he said distastefully, "a good many times louse up the production of a picture. They fuss about make-up, lines, and the way they're treated. You've got to be devious, so sweet and kind and gentlemanly with them."

"Don't get me wrong. I love girls. I like to see pictures with women in them, but I'd rather work in pictures with men."

Erdman, blue-eyed, butch-haired, and 27, recently completed a role in the all-male "Stalag 17," a story of American prisoners of the Germans in World War II. He has made 42 pictures in nine years. Among them was another all-male film, "Objective Burma," starring Errol Flynn.

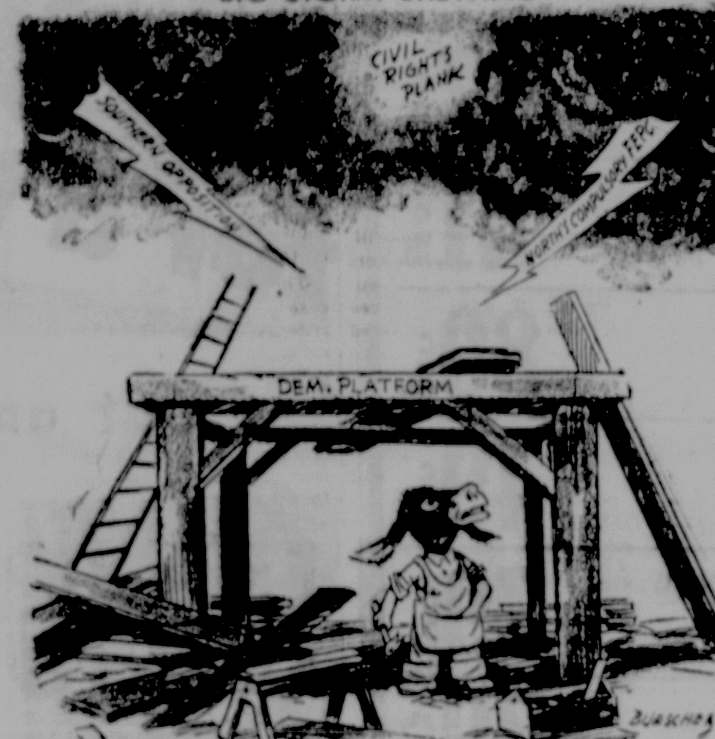

"With a male cast, there's none of that hour-upon-hour quibbling that you get with girls," said Erdman, whom you may remember as the cigar-smoking, book-making paraplegic in "The Men."

BIG STORM BREWING

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Some time I would like to find out how many men REALLY know what their wives think about them.

I wonder whether their wives tell their husbands all the things they tell me in the letters I get.

A few weeks ago I wrote that American men are not demonstrative enough to their wives and that they don't take the time to SHOW their love to them.

Then came a fellow from Gardena, Cal., who told me that I'm "off in the head," that he was a wonderful husband and father, and that most American men are just like him.

I received a number of letters from women all over the country in which they called their husbands several names, some of them unprintable. Here is one specimen from a little town in Wisconsin which, I think, will pass my editors.

It's just about representative of what most of the others said, only it is a little more moderate in tone and did not take much cleaning up.

"In today's paper," it says, more than 1,500 accounts containing more than $32,000. The East River Savings bank has 1,700 accounts worth more than $3,000, and so on and on. It makes for a tidy parcel of funds, all in all, and I would just like to lay my hands on, say, six or eight of these accounts, because I have something going at Arlington Park tomorrow that I guarantee could more than double the loot, at 7 to 2.

Funny thing: sometimes the banks, after knocking themselves out trying to ferret out these reluctant depositors, achieve success—and promptly are asked indignantly by the missing one just what the devil all the fuss is about. "Can't a guy put some cash in the bank without being pestered by you people every 10 days?" is the way these could state their cases. I repeat, this is an attitude that astonishes me continually. I am always available and friendly when my bank is trying to find me, except if my checking account is overdrawn, of course, in which case I never heard of the Chase National. Can't a guy maintain a checking account without being pestered by those people every 10 days?

The Bowers' accounts of this kind total more than $40,000, representing nearly 2,000 depositors, and the Emigrant Industrial has more than 1,500 accounts containing more than $32,000. The East River Savings bank has 1,700 accounts worth more than $3,000, and so on and on. It makes for a tidy parcel of funds, all in all, and I would just like to lay my hands on, say, six or eight of these accounts, because I have something going at Arlington Park tomorrow that I guarantee could more than double the loot, at 7 to 2.

Parade To Climax 30th District Legion Convention Here

15 Musical Groups To Participate

At least 15 musical organizations and 1,000 marchers are expected to participate in Saturday's parade here, culminating the third annual convention of the 30th District, American Legion.

George N. Kemp Post 346, East Stroudsburg will be host for the event, assisted by other Monroe County units—Pocono's Memorial Post 903, Evans-Blitz Post, 922; West End Memorial Post, 927 and Wilson-Fischer Post, 413.

Delegates and alternates of posts in Monroe, Carbon and Northampton Counties and auxiliary units from all three counties and Lehigh will converge on this area Saturday morning for registration from 8:30 to 9:30.

Convention of Legionnaires will get under way at 9:30 and conclude at 12:30 p.m. Delegates will caucus from 2 to 5 p.m. and the parade will begin at 7. Climaxing the day a dance will be held at the Legion auditorium beginning at 10 p.m. Music will be provided by Elwood E. LeBar and his Western band.

Auxiliary delegates will hold their convocation at the Elks Home in East Stroudsburg while activities of Legionnaires will center at the National Guard Armory, directly across from the Legion Home.

Many dignitaries from state and district headquarters are expected to join festivities here and prepare for the state parade in Philadelphia August 6, 7, 8 and 9.

About $1,000 has been expended for the parade which will feature the awarding of three trophies to musical aggregations, based on outstanding musical ability, appearance and march.

Forming at Eighth and Main Sts. in Stroudsburg, the line of march will move east on Main, over the inter-borough bridge, east on Washington to Crystal, east to N. Courtland St., from there to Lenox Ave. and disband at East Stroudsburg playgrounds.

In conjunction with the day-long ceremonies the Junior Legion baseball team will conduct a tag day. Players in uniform will circulate through both boroughs seeking donations.

Among the manifold list of musical groups to participate are the outstanding Drum and Bugle Corps of Scranton, Roseto, Slatton and Matamoros Jr. Drum and Bugle Corps who took first prize in Pennsylvania Week activities last year.

Paul Berner, grand marshal will head the parade. Officials of both boroughs and Legion and Auxiliary officers will set the pace for the long line of post members and musicians. Fire companies of both boroughs have agreed to have members serve as auxiliary police and the police departments of the two communities will supervise.

Representing the local post as delegates to the convention are Bernard C. Rowe, William Murphy, W. G. Jackson, Al Reizenwitz, post commander elect, Earl Palmer, Elmer Heffer, candidate for district commander, and Vincent Marek. Over 400 delegates and alternates of both the Legion and Auxiliaries will participate in the dual convention meetings.

Gift packets laden with souvenirs from local merchants and organizations will be presented each of the delegates attending the conference. They contain a copy of convention highlights, cigars, book matches, socks from Pocono Hosiery, copy of The Daily Record, brochures of the Pocono region, gifts from several bakeries and a brewing company, and a host of other articles.

Sen. Russell's Bid Backfires

that some of the South took a walk from the 1948 Democratic convention and set up a States' Rights party that captured four Southern states in the subsequent election.

Democrats talked hopefully of avoiding another civil war this year. But the seeds of dissension were present.

Northern Democrats and Negro spokesmen are demanding a civil rights plank fully as strong as the one of four years ago calling for compulsory federal action to end racial discrimination in hiring and firing. They declared that anything weaker this time may cost the Democrats the Negro vote and the November election.

Southerners are plugging for a toned down plank. Their position is that problems of discrimination should be handled by the states and local communities.

With the civil rights struggle already under way, the Democrats jump into another row today involving disputed delegates from Texas and Mississippi. Hearings to determine which groups will sit at the convention get under way before a subcommittee of the Democratic National Convention.

In each state, the fuss is between anti-administration, States Rights Democrats and regular Democrats who call themselves "loyalists."

Hospital Releases Roberts Five Weeks After Two Hitchhikers Shot Him And Killed His Wife

Edwardsville—Jonah Roberts spent his first full day at home here since he was wounded and his wife murdered by two killers near Bear Creek more than a month ago.

Roberts, 46, was released from Wilkes-Barre General Hospital at noon Wednesday. While at the hospital he underwent surgery twice; once to start repairs of the tissues torn by the bullet which entered his shoulder and was deflected downward into the intestines; and the second time, to remove the bullet and repair a collapsed lung.

Rev. Wunder Officiates At Baptisms

The three children of Lt. and Mrs. Howard J. Lee, 509 Main St., Stroudsburg were received into baptized membership in the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg at services Wednesday night.

Baptized were Janet Elsie, Richard Edward and Sandra Elaine Lee. Mrs. Walter Lee, paternal grandmother, served as sponsor with Mrs. Elsie Fairclough Lee, the children's mother.

Mrs. Lee will sail with her children July 30 for Augsburg, Germany to be reunited with her husband, 1st Lt. Howard J. Lee, who is stationed there.

James Richard Merring, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Merring, 79 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg, will be baptized Sunday immediately after the morning worship service. His parents will serve as sponsors.

Sandra Lynn Thulin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton C. Thulin of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of East Stroudsburg, was baptized on July 12 at the church. Victor Thulin, paternal grandfather served as sponsor with the parents.

Rev. William F. Wunder, pastor of the church, administered the baptism rite to the children.

418 American Troops Hit By Rare Disease

Scout, Korea (AP) — The Eighth Army in Korea is the healthiest the United States ever put into the field, but it is troubled again this year with cases of that rare and mysterious disease—Manchurian fever.

The fever caused minor trouble last year. And this year the cases amount to only a minute fraction of the 250,000 United Nations troops in Korea.

Through June, 418 cases of Manchurian, or hemorrhagic, fever have been reported among the troops. The death rate is less than 4 per cent.

Despite the small percentage figures, Army doctors have so effectively dominated other diseases among the troops that Manchurian fever constitutes one of their biggest problems. Malaria has been whipped, and intestinal disorders, numerically the biggest problem outside battle casualties, are seldom serious.

Medical authorities are putting everything, including study teams from the United States, into combatting the fever under a program set up by the Eighth Army surgeon, Col. L. Holmes Ginn, of Deland, Fla.

The intensive study, treatment, a special hospital and handling of fever patients from the front have resulted in 96 per cent of the victims being returned to duty with no ill effects. Studies so far have shown that the fever either kills or the patient recovers completely.

The theory now is that the disease is spread by mites borne by rodents. Death comes from hemorrhages in the body's vital organs.

Dr. Theodore S. Hsu will be out of town July 3 to July 20. Office will reopen on Monday, July 21, 1952.—Adv.

Two Transfers Recorded At Courthouse

Two deeds were recorded yesterday at the courthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Davis, Waymart, sold to the Weir Lake Development Co., Inc., a Chestnut-hill tract consisting of three plots and a residence on the Effort-Kunklejohn road.

A Tobyhanna Township property bounded by McCauley Ave. and Sullivan Rd. has been bought by Ann Dwyer, Plymouth, Pa., from Marguerite Williams and Elizabeth J. Williams, Scranton.

Also recorded were six rights-of-way allowing the Metropolitan Edison Co. to install service poles. The majority, were in Hamilton Township, the others scattered.

Carpenter Files Suit

A Saylorsburg carpenter yesterday was suing his mother-in-law in Northampton County over an agreement that she would deed a house to him if he would build it on her land.

The carpenter, Robert Bond, claimed the agreement was that he would do all the work he could on the story-and-a-half house, while Mrs. Katalin Lechovec, Nazareth RD3, the mother-in-law, was to pay for materials and special work he could not do.

Bond alleged he put in 800 hours of work worth $1,800, and paid for $1,000 in materials, and that his mother-in-law now says she won't deed him the house.

He is asking the court to enjoin her from selling or mortgaging the property and to order the deed or $2,800 turned over to him.

Dr. W. R. Erickson will be away from his office, attending the National Osteopathic Convention at Atlantic City, July 14 to 19th, inclusive.—Adv.

Razing Of Buildings To Start Monday

Delaware Water Gap—Representatives of the Schlefer Demolition Co., 1002 Scranton St., Scranton, posted no trespassing signs on the Hillcrest Apartment house, the Blair House and Hof Brau hotels here late yesterday afternoon preparatory to razing the buildings to make way for the approaches to the new four-lane, 2,500-foot Delaware River bridge.

All three structures were seized under the right of eminent domain by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission to make way for the approaches and toll house plaza for the modern new river crossing.

The Schlefer firm, it was reported last night, expects to have demolition crews on the job Monday. They have some 45 days in which to raze the buildings, it was reported.

First work will be done on the Blair House, a resort hotel which had a capacity of some 100 persons.

Operations will revert then to the Hof Brau, under the hill opposite the D. L. & W. railroad station.

Scheduled for the final demolition is the Hill Crest Apartments which formerly housed some 14 families.

There were no reports on plans for razing a number of private dwellings, also condemned for removal to permit approach and toll bridge plaza construction for the new bridge.

The razing operation, according to William Wilson, chief engineer for the Joint Toll Bridge Commission, was submitted to invitation bid.

Both the contractor on the bridge project, Johnson, Drake & Piper of New York City and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are moving toward the approach work for the bridge.

Plans and specifications are already perfected by the State for early bidding on the highway approach which will connect with Route 611 on the sweeping curve near the Delaware Water Gap Cemetery.

County Polio Chapter To Organize

Robert W. Jones, eastern representative of National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, will address an organization meeting of the Monroe County Chapter of the YMCA here Monday at 8 p.m.

Any person who has contributed to the March of Dimes campaign is entitled to attend and become a member of the chapter.

Branching out in organization structure, the chapter will become county-wide in character of organization.

For the last three years the March of Dimes has been sponsored by the Stroudsburg Rotary Club. Last year the Business and Professional Women's Club headed by Miss Helen Kulp became co-sponsors.

This team produced one of the most successful March of Dimes campaigns in history. Over $10,000 was raised for the fund.

A complete slate of officers is to be selected Monday night.

Walter Schlough, local insurance executive, is now president. He will conduct the organization meeting until new officers are named.

Two Movie Personalities At Playhouse

Mountainhome — A thrilling drama that is both a gasty tale of armed gangsters on a rampage in the West, and the love story of a way-faring writer and a pretty waitress, has been chosen as the next attraction at Poccano Playhouse, starting next Monday. Starring two outstanding Hollywood personalities, Gene Raymond and Geraldine Brooks, the play "The Petrified Forest" is a very much alive and kicking melodrama which not only tells a spine-tingling story but at the same time provokes thought about the world we live in.

Gene Raymond will be seen in the role of Alan Squier, itinerant writer-hobo, and Miss Brooks, famous for her beauty and talent, will portray the part of Gabby Maple, the waitress with daydreams. Mr. Raymond began his stage career at the age of 17 in the successful Broadway play "Cradle Snatchers" which led to a great personal triumph in "Young Bessie," a play that ran for a year in New York and then went on the road. He made his screen debut with Nancy Carroll in "Personal Maid" and went on to further starring roles in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," "Smartest Girl in Town" and "Walking on Air" and other motion picture successes. In the spring of 1941 he co-starred with his wife, Jeanette MacDonald in "Smiling Through" and later co-starred with her in "The Guardsman." Also well known on both radio and television, Mr. Raymond appeared for more than a year as the star of "The Amazing Mr. Malone" and in top TV network shows.

Miss Brooks has appeared in such motion pictures as "Cry Wolf," "Possessed" and "Reckless

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, head-ache, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—helps the kidneys filter out waste and keeps them flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Defense Forces Of Canada To Join With U.S. In Air Defense Operation Signpost

"Enemy" bombers will smash at vital targets across the vast areas of Canada and the United States for eight days, starting Saturday.

This time, however, American and Canadian pilots will be in the "enemy" planes.

The operation, designated "Exercise Signpost," will be one of the most intricate exercises or war games ever staged.

It will combine the defense forces of both nations in joint operation . . . as might happen in the event of actual attack.

The far-flung tests which will take in all of the North American continent as its theater of operation has two purposes: the testing and evaluation of new equipment, and a check on the efficiency of manpower use.

Not only the regular forces of both nations will be employed, but also the U. S. Air National Guard. Aircraft from U. S. and Canadian commands will attack selected targets. Where the targets are, and whether or not the "enemy" bombers will get through to them, will be determined only when the attacks take place.

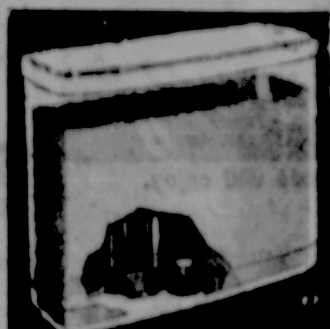

Defending the targets, scattered throughout the millions of miles of both countries, will be fighter-interceptor planes and anti-aircraft units, operating jointly in air defense with both U. S. and Canadian commands, radar units, electronic control centers, and the vital Ground Observer Corps (which is already on 24-hour operation).

Coordination of the complex exercise will be effected by Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw, C.G. of the U. S. Air Defense Command, Colorado Springs, Col., and Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James, commander of the RCAF Air Defense Command. The A-A phase of defense will be handled by Maj. Gen. John T. Lewis, head of the A-A Command.

Moment, and recently co-starred with Glenn Ford in "The Green Glove." On stage last season she had the starring role in "Voice of the Turtle" on road tour and played Perdita in "The Winter's Tale" on Broadway.

Gerald O'Loughlin will be cast in the role of the desperado Duke Mantee and Roland Wood will be seen as Gramp Maple. Other roles have been assigned to Jean Stapleton, Rachel Taylor, Jim Lutton, Paul Trautvetter, William Greaves, Max Glanville, Casey Walters, Tony Dowling, Larry Swanson, David Morris and Marvin Goldstein. Reservations for seats may be made by calling Cresco 8401 or 3341.

Is your closet tank a "drip"?

See the NEW Crane "SAHARA" designed to end dripping

Here's a new idea in closet tanks designed to end an old nuisance—dripping caused by high humidity. Heavy rubber insulating liner keeps cold water in tank from cooling the tank's outside surface, thus eliminating excess condensation.

The Sahara tank is available with four popular Crane closets and is also adaptable to many closets now in service.

Cockers Win Prizes At Club Show

Mountainhome — Sugarbrook Counterpoint, 10-month-old black cocker spaniel owned by Marguerite Manhart, was chosen "best puppy" and "best in match" at the Northeastern Pennsylvania Cocker Spaniel Club show at Sugarbrook Kennels here July 13.

The show was sanctioned by the American Kennel Club and Harry Coates, Whippany, N. J. served as judge for the event.

Other local cockers placing first in their classes were Double Spruce Breeze, black and tan female; Double Spruce Cricket, black and white female—both owned by Helen Walker, Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Allen Hoffman, Saylorsburg, had first and second in the three to six months class with two black females. Hoffman's Fancy and Hoffman's Sugar.

Lee Hoffman, 9, of Saylorsburg, showed a black male puppy, Hoffman's Cutie Pie to first in his class and later won the boy's handling class with the same dog. This was Lee's first dog show. He had trained and groomed the dog himself.

The girls' handling class was won by Judy Reid, Clarks Summit, Pa.

Monroe County Garden Club Gathers In Jenkin's Woods

The July meeting of the Monroe County Garden Club, held yesterday at the Barn, an art studio located in the rear of the Jenkins home, near Buck Hill Falls, proved one of the most interesting for some time. Mrs. Robert A. Miller, the president, was in charge.

Prior to the brief business meeting, a picnic lunch was served with refreshments furnished by a committee headed by Mrs. Raymond Price. Mrs. Steward Shiffer gave the invocation.

Following the luncheon, the members were conducted on a tour of Jenkins Woods by Thomas H. Knepp where they were privileged to examine many specimens of famed trees starting from a beautifully landscaped section following a small rippling stream along the pathway.

There is a plaque at the entrance in memory of the founders Howard M. Jenkins and Charles A. Jenkins surrounded by mountain laurel and rhododendron.

The large variety of trees in woods include sour gum, hemlock, tulip, white holly, butternut, red oak, sugar maple, white ash, yellow birch, beech, flowering dogwood, black birch and many others. The largest is a hemlock 38 inches in diameter and believed to be 200 years old.

The salt licks where the wild deer quench their thirst in a nearby stream are seen and also a huge rock, supposedly from an old glacier thousands of years old, it was told.

There are also ferns of many descriptions throughout the woods, tea berry plants as well as trailing arbutus and other small plants. Buck Hill Falls proved a real attraction. Near the falls is the famous apple tree said to be a descendant of the one from which Sir Isaac Newton derived his theory of gravity as the apple from that tree supposedly fell on his head.

The members of the club expressed their gratification of having been privileged to hold their meeting in the Jenkins Woods area.

Mrs. Sarah Frantz Given Surprise At Baby Shower

Mrs. Sarah Frantz, formerly of Stroudsburg, now living at Port Jervis, N. Y., was given a surprise baby shower at the George Metropoulos home, 205 N. Ninth St. Wednesday night. Hostesses were Mrs. Jerry Slutter and Miss Eleanor Metropoulos.

The many gifts received by Mrs. Frantz were placed under an umbrella decorated in green and yellow colors. A social period followed the opening of the gifts and refreshments were served.

Those attending were: Mrs. Frantz, the guest of honor; Mrs. Marge Heller, Mrs. Eleanor DeVivo, Mrs. Josephine Seese, Miss Shirley Paul, Miss Ann Kane, Miss Marjorie Reynolds, Mrs. Millie Jacques, Mrs. Ray Fleming, Mrs. Norma Warner, Mrs. Anna Drake, Mrs. Barbara Snyder, Mrs. Elaine Lee, Mrs. Patricia Dean and the hostesses, Mrs. Slutter and Miss Metropoulos.

Those who sent gifts, but were unable to attend were: Mrs. Mary Henning, Mrs. Alice Baird, Miss Christina Teeter, Mrs. Patricia Stevens, Miss Helen Frantz and Mrs. Elizabeth Bixler.

American Legion Four Co. Council Meeting Saturday

The Four County Council of the American Legion composed members of the Auxiliaries of Monroe, Carbon, Lehigh and Northampton Counties, will meet at the Elks Home, Washington St., East Stroudsburg, tomorrow at 11 a. m., with Mrs. Vincent Marek, the president, in charge.

The council holds five meetings annually and indications point to between 150 and 200 representatives from the various units to attend the sessions here tomorrow.

One of the features of the business meeting will be the nomination and election of officers for the coming year. There is said to be much interest in this part of the program.

The members will participate in the luncheon to be served at the Legion Home by the Legion Auxiliary at 12:30 p. m. for both the Four County Assn. and the Legionnaires.

A large number of candidates for state officers are expected to attend the sessions. Included are Mrs. Austin E. Dille, of Waynesburg; Mrs. A. P. Sundry, of Blairsville; and Mrs. Matthew Collins, of Avalon, suburb of Pittsburgh, aspirants for department president.

These candidates for Eastern vice president will also be presented: Mrs. Harlan Everett, Mrs. Charles Reeves and Mrs. William Haley.

Other prominent guests will be Mrs. Adrian Strausburg, of Easton, Eastern vice president, who is a member of the Four County Council, and Mrs. Ray S. Wilson, of Philadelphia, Penna. Department executive secretary - treasurer, and Mrs. John Messersmith, of Palmerton, an Eastern director, also of the Four County Council.

The Pennsylvania Department will meet in Philadelphia Aug. 6, when many county council members expect to attend.

The afternoon session will be given over to reception of guests and transaction of regular business. Adjournment is expected to be reached at 4 p. m. Members of the Four County Council are expected to be largely represented in the Legion parade starting at 7 p. m.

Voss' Receive Wedding Cake

Sgt. Jack Voss and Jeanne Richards, of Waco, Tex., were married on Monday, July 17. They are now living at 4100 San Bernardo Ave., Laredo, Tex.

The novel aftermath of the wedding was the fact that a piece of their wedding cake arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Voss, parents of Sgt. Jack, Tuesday, July 15, in honor of their 29th wedding anniversary.

Birthdays Are Recognized By Em Dee Group

Appenzell—The Em Dee Club held its July meeting at the home of Mrs. Elwood Warner at Swiftwater. After the business meeting, Mrs. Warner furnished the entertainment which consisted of games. Hazel Keiper won the hostess prize when the name she drew was Ike. Each member won a prize at bingo.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and tea were served by Mrs. Warner assisted by Leola Wallingford and Elsie Wallingford. Hazel Keiper remembered the birthday bank.

The following were present, Mary Rustine, Betty Leuber, Marjorie Paul, Abbie Paul, Marie Paul, Evelyn Wallingford, Elsie Wallingford, Mary Paul, Betty Altomores, Hazel Keiper, Leola Wallingford, Carrie Miller and the hostess Cora Warner.

Many Visitors Over Weekend At Rimer Home

Cherry Valley—The George Rimer home was a busy place at the recent weekend when they entertained many unexpected visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chappell, of Palm Beach, Fla., and Mrs. Elsie Dodson, Stroudsburg, were Saturday callers. Mrs. Chappell and Mrs. Dodson are sisters of Mr. Rimer.

That evening, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Scholla were entertained while on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stieger and a party of eight from Newark, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bowman, of Chatham, N. J., visited at the home.

BPW Hear Reports Of Convention

Reports from the national convention of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, held recently at Boston, Mass., highlighted the meeting of the local branch at the Village Inn, Marshalls Creek, last night, attended by 39 members and guests.

Mrs. Bernice All, the president, presided at her first meeting of the new term. Miss Elizabeth Martin gave the club collect.

John R. Wilson, general secretary of the Monroe County YMCA, was the guest speaker. He described in detail the Little League of baseball clubs which are operating in Monroe County. He extended an invitation to the club to attend the game on Aug. 6, when the other service clubs of the county will also attend.

The four delegates who attended the Boston convention gave reports describing workshops they had attended. Mrs. All spoke on the program coordination workshop; Miss Joyce Rutt on membership; Dr. Nina Price on Health and Safety, and Mrs. Stella Shade on education and vocations.

The club members were invited to attend a meeting of representatives of other organizations to be held at the local YMCA July 21, when a Monroe County Chapter National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will be formed.

The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, Aug. 21, at the Bartonville Hotel.

The program coordination committee will meet at the home of Mrs. Martha Kintz, Monroe St., Thursday, July 24, at 7:30 p. m.

Historical Society To Enjoy Tour

The hospitality committee of the Monroe County Historical Society, Mrs. Horace G. Walter, Mrs. Chester H. Rhodes, Mrs. Robert Haigh, Mrs. Nathan Meyer, and Miss Miriam Lark has been busy this week completing plans for the annual meeting to be held at the Hamilton Square Church, Stroudsburg RD, Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

Dr. William Lesh, local historian, will conduct the historical tour to several of the local homes including the Hamilton Square Church parsonage recently redecorated but still preserving the old characteristics of the mansion. The tour will end at "the old Keller home" the present residence of the Chester H. Rhodes, State Superior Court Judge.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting, enjoy the tour, and hear Mrs. Earl F. Ro-bacher speak on one of her favorite subjects "Our Pennsylvania Dutch Heritage." Earl F. Ro-bacher, local summer resident of Shawnee for many years, has written two books about the Pennsylvania Dutch. His Doctorate included many phases of this subject.

Smith Class Social Session

The Mrs. Robert B. Smith class of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church Sunday School met Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Philip Ellenberger, N. Tenth St., with 15 in attendance.

The devotions were conducted by Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Elmira Schmidt. Mrs. Lucy Ellenberger read the fun minutes. Game winners were Mrs. Ann Shook, Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Schmidt.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Mary Getz, Mrs. Isabelle Gadtis, Mrs. Lewis Scheller and Miss Anne Fenne.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Whether or not there's a ring on its finger, there are DOLLS on the toes, if yours is an up-to-the-minute baby. Every mother who's on her toes as a shopper has doubtless discovered the adorable Little Goody Toy Shoes selling in our infants' department at $2.50. These dainty "foot cozies" fasten with snaps at the ankle, and—ribbontied to the toe of each—is a round, plastic rattle with a painted face. Baby will chuckle every time a tiny foot kicks the air. So will you. . . . Yesterday I noticed that even infant matresses and basket linings are being manufactured now in mint and maize, and Thelma Gordon, our department head, tells me that layette colors 60 per cent, with green a close second. After so many years of pink and blue, it's a-mazing, isn't it? . . . The good-natured customer trying to act perturbed in our electrical department yesterday afternoon was Allen Roth of musical and TV fame. Seems he mentioned the need to clean his car, and before he knew what had happened Jack LaBar had sold him a Hoover dusterette. This much we know, he won't be sorry. They're hard-working little gadgets, liking nothing better than a good cleanup campaign. . . . For children 1 to 6 the sanitized, fast-color denim overalls with the National Master Label are stout-hearted and TOUGH. Don't tell anyone, but yesterday I pulled at all the seams and tugged at all the snaps and decided that these are the cheapest suits of armor any mother could find. Just $1.69. . . . Maude Walton of our millinery department is literally up to her ears in new FALL hats that any woman will fall FOR. Rich garnet, bright red and burgundy will definitely go to our heads this coming season as we continue to look our best in tiny hats and variations of the "shell." Cream of the new crop, and still in a drawer, is a black felt of medium size that swoops up on one side, down on the other. The brim is attached to a snug fitting helmet decorated with a rhinestone pin right against the hairline. It's the HATSOMEST thing I

Paragon metallic thread has taken on canasta. Or rather, it has combined with linen to add a touch of elegance to the refreshment table after cards. These bridge table sets sell at $4.98 and $5.98 in several colors, including rose beige, blue or gray. Cotton, also "on its metal", is $2.98. Paragon - - - Paramount - - - Paris-sight! . . . Trulion curtains in two figured styles and solid blue are still selling at $2.79. These are 72 inches long and a really good buy. . . . VERY SPECIAL today is Bea Gorgy's offer of all her reed basket-type bags, woven in China, at $1.39. They had been $2.98. Clearance will continue Saturday. . . . Laugh of the Week came when C. R. (one of our busiest, nicest department heads) telephoned a customer and reported in her most elegant manner, "I had planned to come down with the other girls, but when they left I just couldn't get off the floor." ???!!!!

Worth's Shop Announces New Manager Appointment.

By James E. Gaffney

Mrs. Anna Kemmerer, long experienced manager and director of women's departments and stores, has assumed the management of Worth's Women's Apparel Shop at 722 Main St., Stroudsburg.

The new manager comes here from Wilkes-Barre where she managed several women's dress shops and was affiliated with chain department stores. She is residing at 722 Monroe St.

Second shipment of automobile tags to ballyhoo the Pocono cars reached here this week. Jacob Wachtman, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau said the metallic plates which are attached to the front bumper of the car, sell for 50 cents and the first supply of 600 already is gone. This week's shipment found 4,500 tags sent here and unless the steel strike seriously impairs production, the full shipment will come through.

The plates are green and white in color and announce that the Pocono are Pennsylvania's playground.

Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. walked off with two more awards in national competition this week.

Recognition was given PP & L for their annual report to shareholders, boosting to 14 the total national awards the local utility has won in the past seven years for its report. This latest merit award is from the magazine, Financial World and gained honors in competition with more than 5,000 business reports.

A third place in the National Safety Council's 1951 competition also was announced for PP & L. Harry Woods, secretary of the Lehigh Valley Safety Council presented the certificate.

Viewing for honors in class A, consisting of ten utility companies with the largest number of customers, PP & L's frequency accident rate, number of accidents per million manhours worked was 4.40. The average for that group was 6.61. A total of 11,578,530 manhours worked by PP & L employees during the period shows only 51 lost time accidents.

Monroe County coal dealers and owners of homes heated by coal fired furnaces were informed this week of a new plan devised by Lehigh Navigation Coal Co. to make possible payment for hard coal to the dealer as he sells it and to the consumer to purchase it on the installment plan.

The plan marks the first time the installment payment policy has

Bell Elevates Robert Koons To Supervisor

A former Stroudsburg man has been promoted to an important position with the Bell Telephone Co., according to the June issue of The Telephone News, official company organ.

Robert A. Koons, formerly of Stroudsburg RDI, and a 1942 graduate of the borough high school, was elevated to the post of commercial supervisor in the company's Central Commercial office, Harrisburg.

Koons is married to the former Helen Anne Sommers, also of Stroudsburg.

Treasury Position

Washington (AP) — The position of the Treasury July 15: Net budget receipts $148,373,214.50, budget expenditures $319,994,768.59, cash balance $8,524,420,379.74, total debt $362,942,705,210.78, increase over previous day $7,993,929,756.74.

been presented to 12,000 anthracite dealers in Eastern states and Canada by Lehigh. The idea started last Spring when Lehigh advertised "Buy now, pay next winter." Dealers apparently liked the program since sales ran 28 per cent ahead of last Summer.

Arrangements for customer installment buying will be handled through 300 finance company offices throughout Lehigh's marketing area. A company official said there will be no down payments and 12 months to pay. The initial installment will be due 30 days after purchase.

Dealers will need no cash, not even for freight, until the coal is sold. They will benefit with extra profits because they can buy in Spring and Summer when prices are low.

J. Paul Hart, manager of Citizens Gas Co. advised here this week that John H. Ware, 3rd, chairman of the board of the company, has been reappointed to serve on the Gas Industry Advisory Council by President Truman.

Ware is one of approximately 50 leaders in the industry throughout the country who was asked to serve a second term. He also is chief executive officer of Penn Fuel Gas, Inc., parent company of the local utility.

New York (AP) — The New York Stock Exchange voted yesterday to extend trading one-half hour daily and to close the market on Saturdays during the entire year. The changes will be effective starting Monday, Sept. 29.

This means the stock exchange will be open until 3:30 p. m., Eastern Daylight Time, during the summer months and until 3:30 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, during the rest of the year.

Malta To Honor Two

St. John's Commandery No. 186, Knights of Malta, and the Sisterhood, Dames of Malta, will hold a basket picnic Saturday, July 26, at the Stroudsburg Playground Park. The program is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

Clifford R. Kintner and Alfred L. Snyder will be honored during the festivities. Mr. Kintner served as grand commander of the order

Lions Club Install Weiss As President

Weir Lake — M. S. Weiss Sr. was installed as president of West End Lions here Wednesday night, replacing Floyd Altenose.

Other officers installed by Rev. Adan Bohmer:

Theodore Henderson, first vice president; Thomas P. Rogers, second vice president; Burnice Hawk, third vice president; Milton Everitt, lion tamer; Harry Garris, tall twister; secretary, John Wernett; treasurer, Carl Kresge; and trustees, John Shottwell, R. V. Kresge, James Gould, Milton Deiley.

The session was also "ladies' night." Speaker was Rev. Elmer Finger, pastor of the First Dutch Reformed Church of Philadelphia.

He called for the building of "old-fashioned sociability," getting rid of the conditions which make for Communism, application of the Golden Rule. He also congratulated Lions here on "fine work."

Last year, Mr. Snyder has been an active member of St. John's Commandery for 55 years.

Tatamy, East Bangor Win In Blue Mountain League Tilts

West Bangor, Johnsonville Bow In Defeat

Bangor—Tatamy and East Bangor were returned the winners in the Blue Mountain League yesterday, with the former taking a close decision from West Bangor, 3-2, at Tatamy, while East Bangor blanked Johnsonville, 2-0, on the East Bangor field.

The victories enabled Tatamy to pick up a half game on league-leading Portland, while East Bangor gained a half stride in its battle for a first division berth.

Tatamy won its game over West Bangor with two runs in the bottom of the fourth. The two-run spurt broke a 1-1 deadlock and held water in the face of a one-run rally by West Bangor in the top of the fifth.

There were only two extra base hits in the entire game.

Low Scoring

Johnsonville, currently holding down last place in the standings, battled East Bangor right to the final out before falling by a 2-0 count.

East Bangor tallied its two runs off Joe Antonucci in the sixth frame, while the remainder of the innings for both sides were scoreless.

Bill Barnhardt held Johnsonville to three hits, while East Bangor accounted for five off Antonucci. All eight hits were singles.

Stroudsburg List

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

George Condrick, the big right-hander who fired 'em across the plate for the Stroudsburg Poconos, in 1947 and 1948, is rapidly becoming the toast of Rochester, N. Y., where he is throwing that high hard one for the Red Wings this season, with an eye on a berth with the parent St. Louis Cardinals next spring. George, although relieved in the seventh round, recently was declared the winner for the seventh time this season, as Rochester won over Toronto, 5-3. Condrick has only two setbacks on the black side of the ledger thus far this season.

Condrick, a winter resident of Tannersville, has been tagged with the nickname "Laughing Boy" by Rochester sports writers, no doubt for that constant good natured laugh that George features day after day. In the above mentioned game with Toronto, George allowed four hits in six and two-thirds innings, walked four, struck out two and batted out a double in three trips to the plate. Condrick's record is one of the best on the entire Rochester staff and his course seems chartered in the general direction of St. Louis.

Jack Nehila, left fielder for Stockertown, of the Blue Mountain League, is from Phillipsburg, N. J., but the rest of the club is virtually evenly divided between Stockertown and Nazareth. Steve Jaramchuck, shortstop for Stockertown, reportedly quit the club Wednesday after being replaced in the last inning of the ball game. Steve gave a poor demonstration of base running and his two blunders on the base paths cut off as many possible runs, as the Stockertown club wound up the game by losing to Pocono A. C., 7-5.

Jaramchuck held up at third on one occasion, while another runner advanced to the same base from second. The picture of two runners on the hot-corner brought back shades of the daffy Dodgers of another era, and the runner moving from second to third was declared out. Steve rounded third in the eighth, after John Drew dropped a high infield fly that would have been the third out. All Harold Freeman had to do was pick up the ball and tag Jaramchuck, and pull the visiting club out of a tough spot at that point in the ball game.

Bill "Cy" Morgan, scout for the Phillies, is currently running a baseball tryout school for the National League club in Wilkes-Barre. The school opened yesterday, but will continue today and tomorrow at Artillery Park. The camp is open to all boys between 16 and 22 years of age. Morgan is well known and has a host of friends in Monroe County and surrounding area.

Statesboro, sixth place club in the class "D" Georgia State League, was involved in a traffic accident when the team's bus collided with two cars early on the morning of Sunday, July 6, when the organization was returning home from a night game on the road. Statesboro is managed by Charley "Chuck" Quimby, who played third base for Bangor for a portion of the 1950 campaign, when the North Atlantic League was still in operation. None of the players were seriously injured, but virtually all were shaken up and bruised in the accident.

Ron Mrozinski, former hurler with the Carbondale Blues, also a former NAL entry, tossed his 10th home run ball of the season last week, but the former Carbondale flash allowed only three other safeties as Schenectady took the measure of Williamsport, 3-1. Mrozinski is a resident of White Haven and played basketball at the Monroe County YMCA last winter. Ben Cardoni, who piloted Hazleton, for a portion of the 1949 NAL campaign, compiled a record of seven wins and two defeats in relief roles for Albany, before injuries to the front line hurlers gave Ben his initial starting chance. The veteran right hander came through with a 7-2 decision over Hartford in an Eastern League tussle.

According to information reaching this column, a total of 2,300 people were present to see the Lucky Hell Drivers in action at the Stroudsburg Speedway, formerly known as the Delaware Valley Speedway, on Wednesday. Further reports indicate that the newly named track, located near the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg airport, will open for stock car racing on Sunday, July 27. It was also reported that Wednesday's crowd was the largest the Hell Drivers have appeared before in recent weeks.

The Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburg opens its gates for the first time in the Stroudsburg today, when the circuit features a game at Gordon Giffels field and another on the East Stroudsburg Playground diamond. A large crowd is expected to be on hand for the opening contests, which will feature completely uniformed clubs in each case.

Little Bigger League Opens First Campaign Today

All Four Clubs Slated
For Action

Little Bigger League baseball will make its presence felt on two fronts in the Stroudsburg today, when the Little Bigger League of the Stroudsburg features two games, both scheduled to get underway promptly at 6:15 p. m.

One contest will be played at Gordon Giffels field and the other at the East Stroudsburg Playground.

The International Boiler Works and Worthington Mower are scheduled to clash at Giffels field today, while Line Material and Monroe Silk come to blows at the East Stroudsburg Playground.

Tomorrow's schedule features International Boiler and Line Material in action at Giffels field, while Worthington Mower and Monroe Silk match ability at the East Stroudsburg Playground.

Contests
The newly formed circuit will feature games every Friday and Saturday for the remainder of the present campaign.

Boys from 13 to 15 make up the circuit, with each of the four teams completely uniformed.

Harold Reuser and Elmer "Lem" Bonser will manage the International Boiler club, while Warren "Mag" Loney is pilot of the Monroe Silk contingent. Lou Leffler and John Schoonover guide the destinies of the Line Material club, while Bill Reuser and Clair Metzger manage the Worthington Mower contingent.

In all cases, games in this circuit will be seven innings in length.

Stanky Draws
Suspension

St. Louis (AP)—St. Louis Cardinal Manager Eddie Stanky yesterday was suspended for three days for "offensive gestures" to Umpire "Babe" Pinelli in Wednesday night's game with the New York Giants.

Cardinal shortstop Solly Hemus was fined $50 for his "conduct" in the game.

Notification
Both were notified of the action in telegrams from National League President Warren C. Giles. Stanky's suspension, his first since taking over as Cardinal manager, was effective yesterday.

During Stanky's suspension, Cardinal Coach John Riddle will manage the club.

Stanky was ejected in the sixth inning of last night's game while protesting Umpire Pinelli's calls on balls and strikes. Hemus followed him out of the game in the same inning.

Golfers Set
For Tourney

Shawnee-on-Deleware, Pa. — Southpaw golfers will be spotlighted on a country-wide scale when the National Left-Handed Golfers Association championship tournament is played over the Shawnee Inn and Country Club course here August 4, 5, 6, and 7.

Power hitters, sharpshooters with irons, and putters with the scoring touch will be in the field of more than 150 starters expected to compete for the Walke championship trophy.

According to Robert Ronberger, of Toledo, Ohio, tournament chairman, new District Associations of Left-handers are springing up all over the country, which is one indication the entry of 151 at the 12th annual tournament in Youngstown, Ohio last year, will be broken this year.

Medal Play
A 36-hole medal play round will determine the championship qualifiers. Match play will be 36 holes daily until the champion is crowned.

Ross Collins, 30-year-old Arkansas A & M athletic director and a former 10-letter man at West Texas State won the title last year defeating another noted athletic coach, Kenny Mast, 25-year-old football and basketball mentor from Bluffton, Ohio College five and four in the 36-holes final.

Phils Drop Pair To Pirates

Pittsburgh, AP—Big Ralph Kiner smashed his 17th home run with one aboard in the ninth inning to give the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates a hard-fought 4-2 victory over Philadelphia in the nightcap of a doubleheader yesterday after rookie Cal Hogue had pitched four-hit ball to whip the Phillies 2-1 in the first game.

Short Lead
Connie Ryan led off the nightcap with a triple and scored on the next play when Richie Ashburn lifted a long fly to right field. The Buccs tied it up in the third as Clem Koshorek walked, stole second and scored on Dick Groat's single to center.

A double by Johnny Wyrostek, followed by Granny Hamner's single, put the Phils ahead in the fifth inning. The Buccs tied it up again in the eighth when Pete Castiglione smacked a two-bagger and scored on pinchhitter Joe Garagiola's single.

In the first game, the Phils tallied their sole run in the third inning.

First Game

Seminick Saved From Record
Cincinnati, AP—The official scorer took an error and an unwanted record away from catcher Andy Seminick of the Cincinnati Reds yesterday.

Original
Yesterday the scorer changed his decision and ruled that the second error, on a throw to second in an effort to catch Billy Cox stealing, should have been charged against second baseman Grady Hatton instead of Seminick.

Cincinnati (AP)—It took Brooklyn 11 innings to beat Cincinnati, 2 to 1, yesterday in about as wild a game as has been played this season in the National League.

Neither starting pitcher Preacher Roe nor Herman Wehmeier was around at the finish. And neither was Jackie Robinson, Dodger second baseman, nor his successor, Billy Cox.

The Brooklyn club finally scored in the seventh when Roy Campanella walked, advanced to second when Roy McMillan muffed Andy Patko's liner, and scored when Furillo singled to left.

Deadlock
Cincinnati tied it in the ninth. Ted Kluszewski led off with a single and Eddie Pellagrini was sent in to run for him. Pellagrini promptly worked a delayed steal.

Then came the fireworks. Robinson, enraged at the decision, ran toward the pitcher's mound, then back toward second, stopped and Brooklyn 000 000 100 01—2 9 0 Cincinnati 000 000 001 00—1 10 1 kicked his glove high in the air. He was promptly ejected.

Bosox Edge Pale Hose, 2-1

Boston (AP)—An effective ninth inning relief performance by Ray Scarborough plus Sammy White's seventh homer and George Kell's run producing two-bagger yesterday enabled the Boston Red Sox to sweep a three-game series from the Chicago White Sox, 2-1.

Relief
White and Kell collaborated, the latter after Faye Thronberry walked and stole second, for the Boston markers in the third inning. The veteran Dizzy Trout protected that slim margin until the ninth, which Ray Coleman opened with a single to left. Al Benton then took over for Trout and the White Sox jammed the bases with none out when Sherm Lollar singled off Kell's glove in short left field and Guillermo Miranda beat out a bunt. That brought Scarborough into action. Pinch-hitter Sam Denis forced Miranda, Coleman scoring on the play, Scarborough then slammed the door on the White Sox' victory hopes.

Chicago .000 000 001—1 9 1
Boston .002 000 000—2 3 0

Braves Decision Cubs, 1-0

Chicago (AP)—Pitcher Vern Bickford supplied his own offensive power in pitching the Boston Braves to a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs and Paul Minner before 5,963 paid persons yesterday.

Rookie Ed Mathews was parked on third base with two out in the seventh when Bickford blasted a sharp single to center for the game's only run and Boston's 2-1 edge for the three-game series.

Snaps Streak
Thus Bickford was able to snap a four-game losing streak to the Cubs in posting his own number five payoff against nine losses. For Minner the result supplied the same figures only in reverse—nine victories, and five setbacks.

Boston .000 000 100—1 9 0
Chicago .000 000 00—0 7 0

Esso Extra Gasoline

Many motorists believe that all good gasolines are generally pretty much alike. But here are the facts as proved by industry-accepted road and laboratory tests!

Esso Extra gives you a remarkable combination of qualities that will improve the all-year, all-around performance of 9 out of 10 cars on the road.

We believe a trial will prove to you Esso

Extra delivers results no other gasoline can—in full power, long mileage, high anti-knock, quick starting, fast engine warm-up, and protection against vapor-lock stalling.

And while you're at your Esso Dealer's, there's certainly no better time to let him give your car a complete lubrication and careful check-up for the hot weather driving you'll be doing.

* Esso Extra Gasoline is good for ALL cars, but in 9 out of 10 it will give better all-around performance all year 'round than any other gasoline. Only a car with an engine that's poorly adjusted, badly worn, or one with unusual compression characteristics may be unable to use fully the many extra qualities of this great gasoline. See your nearby Esso Dealer today!

Postoffice May Add New Star Route To Bethlehem To Speed Mail Delivery

A new truck route from East Stroudsburg to Bethlehem is being considered by the Postoffice Department in an effort to expedite mail flowing between the two communities.

Norman Gregory, East Stroudsburg postmaster, said yesterday the contemplated route would leave East Stroudsburg at approximately 3:45 a. m., following receipt of mail from the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad train No. 10.

After a pick-up in Stroudsburg the truck would continue to Easton, reaching there about 6 a. m. to connect with a train of the Pennsylvania Railroad bound for Trenton, N. J. After leaving Easton the truck would stop in Bethlehem to connect at 6:21 a. m. with a train of the Philadelphia and Reading line and that delivery would be destined for Philadelphia.

Following the exchange of mail at Bethlehem the truck would return to East Stroudsburg over the same route.

Mail to New York would not be affected by the proposed route, since the DL&W train now takes it directly to that city.

Philadelphia mail reaches this section via Bethlehem, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton and the proposed addition would eliminate further travel and speed delivery service. Two star routes now are being operated between East Stroudsburg and Easton.

Equipment required for the route, Gregory said, would be a truck with 1,000 cubic feet of load capacity. The truck must be covered, either screened or paneled and with locking doors to furnish protection to mail from weather, loss and theft.

Truckers, star route operators and mail messengers interested in operating the route and furnishing equipment are asked to forward their estimates to Superintendent, District 8, Second Division, Postal Transportation Service, Binghamton, N. Y.

What was your most important telephone call

You've made or received so many important calls that you'd have a tough time picking out the most important.

That's how it is with the telephone. It's a part of your daily life and habits, sharing your successes and failures, your victories and defeats, your pleasures and sorrows.

It rings. It's answered. The call may be important, it may be routine.

But to telephone men and women, every call is an important call... and their responsibility to the public becomes greater and greater as more and more people come to depend upon the telephone.

Behind every call you make are able people of good spirit, whose skill, loyalty and experience are dedicated to providing telephone service so good that you can take it for granted.
